F. A. HINN PROPERTY NEAR $3,000,000

State-Wide Interest in Life-Story of Departed Santa Cruz Man and His Vast Holdings

The vast estate of F. A. Hinn, the wealthy Santa Cruz land owner, was distributed by Judge Knight in the superior court of Santa Cruz county last Monday after much litigation extending over a period of nearly four years. Hinn died in 1913 leaving an estate appraised at $2,600,000. The heirs consisted of the three children who could not agree upon the distribution of the big estate so a partition suit was commenced to divide the big land holdings which consisted of parcels all the way from a town lot to a 7,000-acre tract. After the partition of the land the petition for distribution followed. Hinn was an old character in Santa Cruz from pioneer days. He had a penchant for litigation and was never without a law suit. He usually won his case. In this respect he was like Loren Colburn, the laird of Pescadero. Some big fees were allowed the attorneys who figured in the estate. Walter H. Linforth, the San Francisco lawyer who maintains his summer home at Menlo Park and who was the personal attorney of Hinn in his life time, was allowed fees in the sum of $10,000. John B. Gardner of the law firm of Gardner & Wyoff of Watsonville, was allowed $25,000. Mr. Gardner was the chief attorney for the heirs. C. B. Younger, who married the younger Hinn daughter and a practicing attorney at Santa Cruz, was given $20,000. Attorney Lucas of Oakland, $5,000, and Attorney Lacey of Salinas, $5,000. It is readily seen that litigation is costly. Had the heirs agreed there would have been no attorney fees but it is well that the estate should be distributed in this way—liberal to the lawyers, for they usually put the money thus earned into instant circulation. There are only three children who inherit the big estate and it is said they are not lavish in their expenditure so that the big properties amassed by the older Hinn will remain intact.

"FRIENDS OF IRISH FREEDOM"

Matters of General Interest to Litigants Colled from the Public Records

Sequoia theatre was comfortably packed Thursday evening with an enthusiastic audience that applauded every utterance of Mrs. Sheehy-Skiffington, the Irish patriot, who is in this country making a plea with the American people for the freedom of Ireland. The speech was a happy blending of sarcasm and humor which brought out the telling points of her eloquent address. The meeting was opened by John McCann of San Mateo who introduced the chairman of the evening, James T. O'Keefe, who after a brief address introduced Mrs. Sheehy-Skiffington. She held her audience for an hour and a half during which she patriotically told the sad story of the murder of her husband in Dublin by the British government in April of last year. At the conclusion of her speech the big audience arose and cheered enthusiastically. Miss Ryan of San Mateo sang an Irish song and the meeting was closed by the singing of "God Save Ireland" by Emmett Daly. Before the opening of the meeting the travelogue of Ireland was enjoyed by the audience after which Mrs. W. P. Glynn of Menlo Park sang the "Star Spangled Banner."

long that came each day for their pint of broth, of the one substantial meal a day furnished to thousands of children from three years up, of the babies under three years of age who were taken care of, and of the noble women who had the heart even in the midst of such desolation to bend their energies to the making of toys to delight these children. There was much, much more than this, all vividly depicted and when Mrs. Kellogg pointed out that these poor souls looked to America for relief and relief was to come mainly through the Red Cross and its followers, everyone was stirred to new interest.
